PORT READING, N.J.

PORT READING TERMINAL

E. B. Walters, Manager, Port Reading, N.J., Tel. Cortlandt 7,3827 and Woodbridge 8-0271.
J. D. Grier, Commercial Coal Agent, Woolworth Building, New York City, Digby 9-2175.

Port Reading Terminal is the New York Harbor coal terminal of the Reading Company. The terminal covers about 280 acres, with 42 miles of tracks, the yard having a capacity for the storage of 2,000 cars.

Pier facilities are as follows:

McMyler car dumper, pier 900 feet long, Practical working Capacity, 20 cars per hour. The operation of the McMyler car dumper, which provides a smooth flow of coal from car to receiving vessel, practically eliminates breakage and assures the delivery of coal in clean uniform condition.

Thawing facilities:

Port Reading Terminal is equipped with a thaw house in which 44 cars of frozen coal may be thawed at one time. In addition, a steam line, running the full length of a platform 820 feet long extending between two tracks, has a series of outlets to which are connected flexible hose leading to portable lance pipes. Eight of these lance pipes are provided for each car. When forced through the frozen coal, steam is ejected through perforations in the pipes, quickly changing the coal into normal condition for handling. Using both tracks, 29 cars can be thawed at the same time. Flood lights allow 24 hour use of this equipment.

During the thawing weather, the cars in the thaw house can be turned 4 times each 24 hours and the cars on the steam lance tracks can be turned 5 times in each 24 hours, giving Port Reading a winter time capacity to unload 300 cars per day.

Dust allaying system:

The car dumper at Port Reading Terminal is also equipped to spray coal prior to shipment with a special chemical solution known as Compound "M" when such service is desired in connection with the delivery of clean dust-free coal. This is a non-toxic and harmless preparation manufactured by the Johnson-March Corporation of Philadelphia.

Treatment in no way affects the burning qualities of the coal.

*-Indicates, can accommodate ocean going steamers for loading or discharging waterborne traffic.
